NOTES on the Catalogue and Illustrations

The catalogue is arranged typologically beginning with Type A. I.a. on p. 1 and follows the 'Typological Scheme', pp. 20-36 (Vol. I), through to Type P.III., p. 83 with the exception of Types A.IX. f. and H.I.d. which are included within the Addenda, pp. 84-91 (Vol. II). The examples for each type are always listed in alphabetical order by sites which follows the site list under Contents, pp. v-vii. Type A.I.a.1, for example, comes from Site 9, Tell Ashdod (Map I) and Type A.I.a.33 comes from Site 47, Jerusalem (Map I) which is illustrated by Fig. 2:1 and Pl.1:1 since it is an unpublished example.

Some of the types in the Addenda have examples which are numbered with lower case letters following the arabic numbers. The purpose for this was for maintaining all examples under a type together in their alphabetical listing by sites on the writer's original record cards for easy reference. Type A.I.a.6a, for example, comes from Tell Gat which alphabetically follows Type A.I.a.6 from Beth Shemesh in the main catalogue.

Although the writer has tried to be consistent in maintaining the figure and plate illustrations in numerical order by type, this has not always been possible due to new evidence which sometimes calls for a change in typology. For example, the catalogue, figures and plates were completed when the writer 'discovered' quite accidentally in Jerusalem last year that most of the unpublished figurines from the E 207 'Shrine' at Samaria were locked away in the Hebrew University Institute of Archaeology, a fact not previously known. This evidence certainly altered the Samaria material considerably and necessitated changing some of the types, adding new examples as well as making provision for new types such as H.I.d.1. Due to various changes, Plates 41-55 include mostly Addenda illustrations, but a few are listed in the main body of the catalogue such as Pl. 41:8 (courtesy of the Israel Museum), Type A.III.f.1, since it offers a better illustration than that already published.

The line illustrations on Figures 1-78 are all drawn at half scale with the exceptions of Figs. 5:1-2, 70:8, 76:1-3, 77:1-3 and 78:1-2 which are life-size. The photographic illustrations on Plates 1-55 are produced at half scale as well except the following at life-size: Pls. 4:12, 8:10-11, 42:1-4, 44:1-5, 45:1, 46:1,3,4,6-7, 48:1, 6-7, 49:1, 50:2, 51:1-7, 52:1-5, 53:1-6, 54:1-2 and 55:2-3.
