

Overlapping peptides taken as reagents for skin tests detecting specific cellular immune and applications

Application CN201110257620XA events

2011-09-01

Application filed by Shisong Jiang

2011-09-01

Priority to CN201110257620.XA

2013-03-13

Publication of CN102961760A

2017-07-18

Application granted

2017-07-18

Publication of CN102961760B

Abstract

The invention relates to overlapping peptide taken as a reagent for preparing skin tests and detecting specific cellular immune and an application, and concretely speaking, the invention provides an application of the overlapping peptide, the overlapping peptide can cause skin immune response and specific cellular immune response, thereby overlapping peptide can be used for skin tests, can rapidly and accurately detect specific cellular immune response caused by bacterium, virus and tumour.